The World Trade Organization and Forests

Disponible uniquement en anglais .

For many people around the world, the relationship between the World Trade Organization (WTO) and the future of forests appears to be difficult to perceive. The following briefing aims at assisting people to understand those links and therefore to facilitate their involvement in the struggle to radically modify the current corporate-led approach to international trade.

The World Trade Organization and Forests