Research findings say planting trees would increase global warming